The first step is getting everyone to agree to the consensus process. State the goal of achieving full agreement by everyone. Explain that consensus can only be gained when everyone feels comfortable speaking. Encourage people to share their opinions and ideas and make suggestions and comments without judgement or censure.

Tips for Gaining Consensus - The Unstoppable Professional

Consensus is the outcome of a consensus-building process. After listening to all perspectives, participants develop a proposal that honors the wisdom of the group. When people think and talk together, they can find a solution or proposal to move forward as a group.

Remember, consensus is about finding solutions that work for everyone. Be careful not to get carried away because most people like the proposal. Watch out for people who are quiet or looking unhappy and check with them. Give people time to get their head around the proposal and what it means for them. If it's a complex or emotional issue then build in some time for reflection or a break before moving on to testing for
