horror story doesn't
simply stay with you, it haunts you, and
Nathan Ballingrud's
fiction does just that.

“North American Lake Monsters” just might be the best story collection I’ve read/listened to thus far. Although I haven’t read an abundance of short story collections, I get the strong feeling that few authors will be able to surpass, let alone match, the tact and beauty with which Ballingrud tackles pitch black subject matter.
